

Drug Models of Cardiac Channelopathies

Chu-Pin Lo

Providence University

First I will elucidate how to design suitable protocols to measure some important electrophysiological properties of ion channels, such as activation, inactivation, and recovery. Then I will introduce some state-dependent drugs models for studying mechanisms of arrhythmogenesis in ion channelopathies.