

Quantum Information Processing with Individual Atoms in Optical Tweezers

Philippe Grangier

Laboratoire Charles Fabry, Institut d'Optique

RD 128, 91127 Palaiseau, France

philippe.grangier@institutoptique.fr

We present experimental techniques for using individual neutral atoms as qubits: trapping and moving single atoms, using them as controlled single-photon sources, encoding qubits on hyperfine states, and entangling them. Special emphasis is given to recent techniques using Rydberg blockade.