

Manipulation of single or entangled photons from quantum dot and cold atoms

Chih-Sung Chuu

Dept. of Physics, NTHU

Manipulation of single or entangled photons is essential to quantum photonic technologies. In this talk, we will show how to clean up the single photons from room-temperature quantum dots by temporally shaping the photons. We will also discuss how single or entangled photons can be generated and stored in cold atoms.